To whom it may concern

Southern Processing Pty Ltd saw the need to develop an OH&S management system for our business and sort out the services and engaged Australian Risk Service (ARS).

Paul Camilleri and his team conducted a thorough audit of our site to format an AS / NZS 4801 Safety Management System compliant to WHS National Regulations and Victorian OH&S Regulations. Paul and his team has formatted a comprehensive set of documents to implement their recommended system on site.

We have also had ongoing support from Paul at any time to help us on anything we are not sure about and ARS have continued to offer their support with onsite training, professional knowledge and their experience.

They have also been engaged to run training sessions for our staff and I have found that they explained things in easy to understand language and has helped our team to identify and not turn a blind eye to safety concerns.

Paul and his team has always presented themselves in a professional manner and consulted widely when conducting risk assessments and developing our management systems. I highly commend the work ARS have completed.

Yours faithfully
